A. CIP Update-Lynn Rogers

Senior Accountant, Lynn Rogers, is responsible for coordinating the City's Annual Capital Improvement Program (CIP) and presenting the 2012-13 Open Space and Recreation Category to the Parks and Community Services Commission for review and discussion; and to obtain the Parks and Community Services Commission's determination that the Preliminary CIP is in conformance with the Open Space and Recreation Element of the General Plan.

The CIP includes projects that involve the purchase or construction of major fixed assets, generally those costing more than $10,000. The City is required to adopt a CIP per State Government Code 66000, Assembly Bill 80-1600. The formal CIP must include a minimum of a five-year expenditure plan; the City's CIP is in a seven-year format. Funding for projects comes from discretionary and non-discretionary funds. Discretionary funds can be used for a project anywhere in the city. Non-discretionary funds can only be used for projects that meet certain specific criteria.

The CIP is consistent with City Council goals, which include practicing sound fiscal management, promote economic development, investing in the City's infrastructure, and promote affordable housing.

This is the City of Fontana's 22nd CIP, which builds on last year's award winning document which received the Excellence in Capital Budgeting Award. The CIP is prepared with input from the public and each of the City's departments; the Management Services Department compiles the CIP and it will be presented to the City Council on June 18, 2012 for adoption during a public hearing.

Projects are classified based on project priorities one through four. There are three Priority 1 projects, Central Park, Miller Park Amphitheater, and Sports Park. These projects are considered essential and should be started within one year; however, due to loss of Redevelopment Funds, these projects remain on hold. There are seven Priority 2 projects that should be started between one and three years. There are no Priority 3 projects. There are three Priority 4 projects scheduled to start within five to 10 years. The total open space and recreation project costs are $61.7 million. No additional funding is being requested for any projects.

Commissioner Vaquera asked if there were any foreseen sources of funding. Public Works Manager Dan West replied that there are no other sources currently available. Director Nelson added that funding sources are always being sought via grants, etc.

A motion was made by Commissioner Vaquera and seconded by Commissioner Espinoza to determine that the CIP is consistent with the Open Space and Recreation Element of the General Plan. Motion carried unanimously.

The recommended co-sponsorship funding for this fiscal year is $37,458. Funding for co-sponsorships in the amount of $37,500 was included in the Community Services proposed 2012-2013 fiscal year budget request, leaving a balance of $42 for the September 2012 application period.
