

FONTANA MAYOR'S EDUCATION COALITION

VISION

A well-established locally grown workforce that supports businesses, schools and quality of life, and creates new economic opportunities for the City and the families that call Fontana home.

MISSION

Bring educators and stakeholders together to support business and industry with a skilled, trained and knowledgeable workforce.

PURPOSE

The Fontana Mayor's Education Coalition is an intentional network of schools, businesses and local leaders committed to helping prepare students in the city for current and future job and career opportunities.

With 214,000 residents and a robust business climate, Fontana has emerged as an economic and population hub in the Inland Empire and Southern California. The future is limitless, but requires a well-prepared locally grown workforce that can support the needs of businesses.

The Fontana Mayor's Education Coalition is connecting like-minded individuals and institutions committed to helping businesses grow and creating lifelong opportunities for the next-generation workforce. By working together, schools, businesses and the City are creating a pathway to mutual prosperity and building a new sense of community throughout Fontana.

Strategic partners in the Fontana Mayor's Education Coalition include the City of Fontana, the Fontana Chamber of Commerce, Fontana Unified School District, Chaffey Joint Union High School District, Colton Joint Unified School District, Etiwanda School District and Chaffey College. Among those providing critical support are the Lewis Group of Companies, Building Industry Association Baldy View Chapter, Fontana's representative on the San Bernardino County Board of Education, the San Bernardino County Workforce Development Board and The 20/20 Network.
